Here's a journal for clinicians worldwide that supports the educational missions of the International Anesthesia Research Society and the Anesthesia & Analgesia journal.

The journal publishes short yet informative, peer-reviewed articles that simply describe (a) the unique perioperative or chronic pain-related clinical care of one to three patients; (b) an important teaching point or novel educational tool; or (c) an innovative solution to a perioperative services, patient safety, or global health management issue.

Coverage starts from 2013
